Dear Madam,

with great pleasure I remember my visit at Windsor Cottage and the unforgettable encounter with you, Madam, and the charming royal corgis.

May I introduce myself - I'm a pembroke welsh corgi, called „Picasso“. My breeding name is „Inghariad-i“. I was born at a small farm in south germany and when I was about ten weeks old I went to the big city of Cologne.

In all modesty I can declare to be the first corgi who wrote a biography. In my novel debut „The Queen's Dog“ I describe my beautiful life and fantastic adventures and of course the exciting time the royal corgis and me went through at Your country seat Windsor Cottage.

It's a pleasure for me to give you, Madam, my book as a present. I'm sorry I can not offer a translated version – may be your german speaking husband could read some passages to you?

If you like my little book I'll be very happy. And if I have the luck to get a response to this writing, I'll be the happiest corgi in the whole world!

I have the honour to be, Madam, Your Majesty's humble and obedient servant.

Sincerely Yours

Corgi Picasso

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Bruchmann,

The Queen wishes me to thank you for the letter you have written on behalf of your dog, Picasso.

It was kind of you to enclose a copy of your book about Picasso's life and adventures and to tell Her Majesty of your recollections of visiting Windsor Castle.

Although unable to reply to you personally, The Queen greatly appreciated your kind thought in wishing her to see this publication and I am to thank you, once again, for writing as you did.

Yours sincerely,

Susan Hussey
